Erin Meyer is the author of The Culture Map: Breaking Through the Invisible Boundaries of Global Business and is a professor at INSEAD, one of the world’s leading international business schools. Her work focuses on how the world’s most successful global leaders navigate the complexities of cultural differences in a multi-cultural environment. Working in Africa, Europe, and the United States prompted Meyer’s study of the communication patterns and business systems of different parts of the world. Her framework allows international executives to pinpoint their leadership preferences, and compare their methods to the management styles of other cultures.

Erin began her career teaching English students in Botswana as a Peace Corps volunteer and later working with Asian immigrants in the United States. She has been published in the New York Times Sunday paper, Forbes.com, The Times of India and Harvard Business Review (HBR). Her December 2015 HBR article “Getting to Si, Ja, Oui, Hai, and Da” was the most read HBR article of 2015.
As one of the 20th century’s most respected and influential people, Billie Jean King has long been a champion for social justice and equality.

King, who won an astounding 39 Grand Slam titles during her career, blazed trails for women everywhere in 1970 when she became one of nine players to break away from the tennis establishment and accept a one-dollar contract to compete in the newly created Virginia Slims Series. The revolt led to the birth of women’s pro tennis and the formation of the Women’s Tennis Association.

In 1973, King produced one of the greatest moments in sports history when she defeated Bobby Riggs in the famous match dubbed “The Battle of the Sexes.”

In 1974, King co-founded World TeamTennis, a mixed-gender professional tennis league, and remained heavily involved with the league for over 40 years. She currently owns the Philadelphia Freedoms and heads up the Billie Jean King Leadership Initiative.

NEW MASTERING INTELLIGENCE RISK MANAGEMENT TECHNIQUES

APRIL 26–27 | 9:00 AM – 4:30 PM

This workshop is for enterprise risk managers across all industries who are required to identify and analyze risks and uncertainties associated with both time-sensitive as well as high-impact strategic decisions. Intelligence risk comprises the information overload, inconclusive data, cognitive biases, organizational influence and intense time pressure involved in high-stakes business decisions. In such situations, traditional risk analysis methods often come up short, as demonstrated by the long list of well-publicized business debacles in both financial and non-financial sectors. This workshop delves into the reasons why traditional risk management of complex and uncertain situations is error-prone in the business world.

CONTRACTUAL RISK TRANSFER

APRIL 26–27 | 9:00 AM – 4:30 PM

This workshop will address commercial contracts and insurance policies as risk transfer vehicles relating to commercial insurance, insured agreements, indemnity agreements and captive insurance. You’ll learn the skills needed to understand and draft a contract that effectively transfers risk while reducing your company’s exposure to loss.

APPLYING ENTERPRISE RISK MANAGEMENT THEORY

MAY 2–3 | 9:00 AM – 5:00 PM

Learn to accelerate theory into practice by building practical risk competencies across the enterprise—from the front-line to the board level. In this workshop, you’ll learn the steps to design, activate, monitor and improve enterprise risk management practices. Structure a practical ERM framework that creates and protects organizational value while improving efficiencies.
Educational opportunities can be found everywhere at RIMS 2019. In addition to the 83 sessions, there are more interactive discussions on a variety of topics offered in various places in the Marketplace.

HELP REDUCE YOUR CARBON FOOTPRINT

Producing a conference on this scale consumes a lot of resources. That’s why we’ve partnered with carbonfund.org to help offset the effects to the environment.

Carbonfund.org helps individuals and businesses develop practical and cost-effective solutions to slow, stop and reduce our climate crisis. For a small, one-time donation of US $10 (check the box during registration), you can offset your emissions from the conference. The donations collected will go toward reforestation efforts.

Learn more at www.carbonfund.org.

Note: While RIMS supports the efforts of Carbon Fund in offsetting our carbon footprint, RIMS neither agrees nor disagrees with the positions stated on the Carbon Fund website.
