RIMS members have consistently told us that one of the most valuable membership benefits they receive from RIMS is access to Risk Management magazine’s editorial content. Advertising in the Risk Management email will help you reach corporate insurance buyers and generate high-quality leads.

Risk Management emails are distributed twice per month to the RIMS database of over 50,000 risk professionals. The first email highlights the issue’s cover story and the second email features the hot topic article, with the aim of driving traffic to the online version and generating new subscribers for the print version. Your 160 x 600 skyscraper banner would run exclusively in these monthly emails.

Sponsoring these monthly emails will raise your brand’s profile among CFOs, chief risk officers and other decision makers within the C-suite, VPs of risk management, directors of risk management, enterprise risk managers, treasurers, and controllers.

Use the Risk Management 2020 Editorial Calendar to plan your campaign around months that provide synergy with your product offerings and add exposure before, during and after key industry trade show events.
