HISTORY OF THE PALACE HOTEL

When it was originally established in 1875, the iconic Palace Hotel was the largest and most costly hotel in the world. On April 18, 1906 when the San Francisco earthquake hit, the building survived the quake structurally; however, the hotel was decimated in the ensuing fire that swept most of downtown San Francisco. The Palace Hotel re-opened its doors December 15, 1909, completely rebuilt after the devastation of the earthquake. The Palace Hotel has remained the landmark hotel in San Francisco with such timeless features as The Garden Court's stained glass dome with Austrian crystal chandeliers and the 1909 Maxfield Parrish painting of "The Pied Piper of Hamelin" located in the Pied Piper Bar.

SUSTAINABILITY

The Palace Hotel is committed to sustainable business practices and to reducing our carbon footprint. For years, the Palace has initiated use of new and innovative systems. It is known throughout the city of San Francisco as a leader of environmental efforts – both within the hospitality industry and the local business community. In 2015 the Palace Hotel completed a multi-million dollar renovation. Several upgrades were made to reduce usage throughout the hotel. Ask us about Recology SF (landfill diversion), Make a Green Choice and the Clean the World Program.

TRANSPORTATION

The Palace is approximately 15 miles or 30 minutes from the San Francisco International Airport (SFO). Air travelers may use shuttle service to get to the hotel at a cost of $16.00 per person, one-way. Cab fares are approximately $45.00 from the airport. The Bay Area Rapid Transport (BART) and streetcars (MUNI) also stop directly in front of the hotel at the Montgomery Station.

PRESERVING AN ICON

The owners and ambassadors of the Palace Hotel are dedicated to preserving our landmark hotel. Upgrades and improvements are made on an ongoing basis to keep the Palace worthy of her name. Recent upgrades to meeting space include beautiful European carpeting in the Mezzanine and Sunset Court areas, new stylish, comfortable banquet chairs and the addition of a top-of-the-line amplified sound system. A smart dimmer lighting system has been installed throughout the hotel for energy efficiency. Millions of dollars are spent each year to properly care for this historic hotel and to maintain our level of excellence. Careful consideration is given to keeping the Palace current. We are committed to providing the luxury services, accommodations, and amenities for our guests.
